The goal of this paragraph is to get your audience's attention, introduce yourself, make your audience of students and parents feel welcomed and identify the major topics and you will be covering in your portion of the presentation. Write this paragraph like a speech.

Attention-getter:

- Tell a personal story about a school experience or teacher that had an impact on you
- Ask a question you then answer related to school, growing up, learning, relationships, etc.
- Give a startling statistic related to education, schools, failure, growing up, extra-curricular involvement in school, etc.
- Begin with a quote related to the power of education, what success looks like, what is needed for a young person to thrive, the best way to learn, etc. Hook / Transition: Connect the ideas above to your school and the experience you try to create for your students Example: Knowing that _____ (connect to ideas above), here at Name of School we place a lot of emphasis on _____. Introduce yourself: Hello. My name is _______(name you have made up) and I _____(role) here at ______(name of school). Today, I will be talking to you about _____ Thesis: identify a universal message identifying what all students need related to YOUR ROLE The message I want you to know is that all students need

This paragraph should be about YOU (the character you create) so that your audience (of both students and parents) knows who you are and most importantly will trust, relate to and like you. You will write it like a speech and address the questions on the Create Your Character sheet.

As you talk about yourself, explain your choices (This is similar to Holden because; Holden will relate to me because; Holden needs someone who because, Holden also values, Holden identifies with; Holden seems to be successful whenHolden appears to enjoy).
Let me first begin by telling you a little bit about myself.

^{*}You may use additional paper if needed.

Question : What type of extra-curricular programs, social events and activities does your school offer that might appeal to students like Holden? Consider not only what Holden's interests are but ways he needs support in developing socially, especially in areas that have contributed to his lack of success in school.
Make a claim: Holden will benefit from this because (he is struggling with_, he is most happy when_, his lack of success in school is due to_) Fridonas, Fan arangola voltan / ac / after describe situation 0 action Italian (thinks to himself / describes have Evidence : For example, when / as / after describe situation & setting, Holden (thinks to himself / describes how / says to_) "line from the text" (#).
Anglysias Discuss how this shows what is going an with Holdon. Do not restate what is already revealed in Analysis: Discuss how this shows what is going on with Holden. Do not restate what is already revealed in the quote but instead add NEW insights by discussing stylistic devices, patterns, inferences and tying your ideas to other parts of the text. Use G-8 & G-11
Tie Back (Return to what your school does and explain how this will address Holden's needs.)

Students, and what interactions between students are like. Keep in mind Holden's experiences at his past schools.
Make a claim: Holden will benefit from this because (he is struggling with_, he is most happy when_, his lack of success in school is due to_)
Evidence : For example, when / as / after describe situation & setting, Holden (thinks to himself / describes how / says to_) "line from the text" (#).
Analysis: Discuss how this shows what is going on with Holden. Do not restate what is already revealed in the quote but instead add NEW insights by discussing stylistic devices, patterns, inferences and tying your ideas to other parts of the text. Use G-8 & G-11
Tie Back (Return to what your school does and explain how this will address Holden's needs.)